

NJSP

(New Jersey Scholars Program)

NJSP is an intensive academic program for 39 of the most intelligent, outgoing and highly motivated students who are residents of New Jersey, United States Citizens, and will complete their junior year in June of 2015. During a five week summer residential program, the Scholars will explore a specific topic, Climate Change and the Human Experience, from an interdisciplinary perspective. The dates will be Sunday, June 28 through Friday, July 31. There is no fee to students other than personal expenses.

If you are interested in applying for this program you must bring a copy of your resume and transcript to Mrs. Angelastro, Director of Guidance, by Monday, Nov 24. The guidance and science departments will be working together to select our two representatives. If you have any questions please see Mrs. Angelastro.
